BELL RINGER #9 Write the last moments of Fortunato's life from his perspective. What was he feeling when he first went down into the catacombs, how did he feel as Montresor started building the wall, then lastly when he was completely built in.

BELL RINGER #10

Think back to one of our first assignments: to create a plot for one of your favorite stories! Now, using that same story, create THREE different themes/ lessons from that story

Bell Ringer 11: Write a short story based on this picture

Bell Ringer 12:

Edgar Allan Poe had a rival who he constantly was trying to one up. How does this event in his life effect his writing of “The Cask of Amontillado”? Why do you think Poe wrote this story?

Bell Ringer 13:

PIXAR: talking cars, talking bugs, talking toys, talking emotions...

Give a random object the ability to talk and describe the movie plot in honor of pixar!

Bell Ringer 14:

Follow the Pixar storytelling formula:

Once upon a time there was ____.

Every day, ____.

One day, ____.

Because of that, ____.

Because of that, ____.

Until finally, ____.
